Under Review

Diverse Governance Strategies to Conspiracy Theories and Their Consequences in China Under Review

- Submitted to Nature's Humanities and Social Sciences Communications as the corresponding author
- Analyzed 46,387 posts with computational network analysis, topic modeling, and three case studies
- Revealed diverse backlash effects when the conspiracy theories were employed to mobilize the public
- Highlighted the limitations of authoritarianism, revealing the interplay between state control and public agency

Enhancing Public Deliberation by Conversations with Generative AI Conditionally Accepted

- Conditionally accepted to a political communication journal in the Social Science Citation Index (Q2)
- Led as the co-1st Author; explored how conversations with ChatGPT enhance public deliberation on the carbon tax
- Combined visual-textual analysis with machine learning and a personalized conversational survey experiment

Working Papers

The Public Effects of Disclosing AI Authorship: Evidence from a Survey Experiment In Progress

- Led as the 1st Author; examined how the impact of disclosing AI authorship on key public policy debates
- Designed and conducted a 2×2 digital survey experiment among a nationally representative sample of 2,000

Contextualizing a Large Language Model (LLM) to Improve Government Responsiveness In Progress

- Collaborated with a local government in China which sought to tailor an LLM to categorize citizen complaint
- Contextualize a fine-tuned LLM in government institutions, target journal: Nature Machine Intelligence

400,000 News Images Shows that Ideological Hostility Intensifies with Public Crisis Under Revision

- Led as the 1st Author; studied the ideological hostility of mass media under COVID-19 and beyond
- Framed questions, analyzed 400,000 images with machine learning and conducted regression analyses
- Found that ideological hostility in visual depiction did exist but could be mitigated by the COVID-19 severity
